Computers work best when things are on or off. Computers have only two numerals, zero and one.

We call numbers with only zero and one   . The "bi" in binary means   like the two wheels on a   cycle. We call each place a   , short for   nary digi .

Binary numbers have places, just like decimal numbers, but they're   places.

Ones place: