

TELEWORK PROGRAM

I. Purpose

This document outlines the guidelines and rules for Teleworking in accordance with University System of Georgia (USG) Teleworking/Flextime Policy. The University allows Teleworking, on a voluntary basis, to employees who fill job classifications/positions that have been designated as eligible for Teleworking by Human Resources. The Telework program is an employer option, not an employee right and is appropriate only when it results in a benefit to the University. Teleworking may not be suitable for all employees and/or positions. The University may implement Teleworking as a work option for certain Eligible Employees based on specific criteria and procedures consistently applied throughout the University.

II. Definitions

- A. Alternate Workplace: A worksite other than the employee's usual and customary worksite (Primary Workplace). The Alternate Workplace is typically the employee's home.
- B. Eligible Employee: An employee, in an Eligible Position as designated by Human Resources, who has been identified by the employee's supervisor as satisfactorily meeting performance standards, terms, and conditions of employment of their position. The employee shall have no active formal disciplinary actions on file for the current or immediately preceding review period.
- C. Eligible Position: A position having measurable quantitative or qualitative results-oriented standards of performance that is structured to be performed during a work period that may vary from the core work hours established for a department or school. For Teleworking, the position must be structured to be performed independently of others and with minimal need for support and can be scheduled at least one day a pay period to participate in Teleworking without impacting service quality or organizational operations. The eligibility of a position for Teleworking may change depending on circumstances. Eligible Positions will be designated by Human Resources.
- D. Primary Workplace: The employee's usual and customary workplace at the University.
- E. Telework or Teleworking: Working at a location other than the employee's usual and customary workplace. (Also known as Telecommuting.)
- F. Teleworker: A person who, for at least one or more days in a particular pay period, works at an Alternative Workplace. A Teleworker is not a mobile worker.
- G. Teleworking Agreement: The signed document that outlines the understanding between the University and the employee regarding the Teleworking arrangement.

III. General Conditions for Teleworking

A. The employee, supervisor, manager may terminate a Teleworking arrangement for any reason. A supervisor has no authority to require an employee to Telework unless it was a condition of employment or a requirement of the job description.

B. The Teleworker's conditions of employment remain the same as for non-Teleworking employees. Employee salary, benefits, and employer-sponsored insurance coverage will not change as a result of Teleworking. The employee shall adhere to all applicable policies and procedures.

Teleworking. Failure to provide the confirmation of compliance within the timeframe described above may cause a delay in processing the employee's request to telework. If, after multiple requests for such information, the employee requesting to telework does not provide the necessary confirmation of compliance, the request to telework will be denied.

The employee is expected to use his or her own furniture, telephone lines, and other equipment. Any use of private facilities of the employee will be at the employee's discretion and not at the behest or expense of the University. This applies to all physical improvements and conveniences as well as services.

Office supplies (e.g. pens and paper) shall be provided by the department and should be obtained during the Teleworker's in-office work period.

Employees assigned a computer or laptop may be given permission by his/her department to use such equipment for Teleworking after a Computer Issuance Agreement and Equipment Loan Agreement are signed. Contact the IT Service Desk for a Computer Issuance Agreement. An Equipment Loan Agreement is available through Logistical Services. A copy of the Computer Issuance Agreement and Equipment Loan Agreement must be provided to the Work related long distance phone calls should be planned for in-office days. At the discretion of the supervisor, expenses for business related long distance calls and cell phone calls, which must be made from a Teleworker's home, may be reimbursed if the reasons and costs for the calls are documented. The Teleworker should seek approval from the supervisor prior to making any long distance calls. The Teleworker is responsible for the cost of maintenance, repair, and operation of personal equipment.

VI. Telework Schedule

TELEWORK PROGRAM

The Teleworker must obtain approval in advance from his or her supervisor before taking leave during a designated Telework day.

The Teleworker must maintain contact with the office as specified in the work schedule, department policy, and Telework Agreement. A Teleworker's activities outside the time of work or outside the place designated for work will be deemed to be in the Teleworker's own personal time and place, unconnected with work activities.

VII. Liability

The Teleworker's home workspace when used for Telework is an extension of the department workspace. The University's liability for job-related accidents will continue to exist during the approved work schedule and in the Teleworker's designated work location. The Teleworker is covered under the State's Workers' Compensation Law for injuries occurring in the course of the actual performance of official duties at the Alternate Workplace.

If an injury occurs during Teleworking work hours, then the Teleworker
